Approx. 3" x 7¹/4", in ink: "Aaron Lopez Bot. of Elisha Eldrige / 12 barrells pickled codfish £264 / deduct 5 hoops £1.5" for a total of £262.5 / received the above in full" and here signed by Elisha Eldrige. Docketed on the verso by Lopez: "Elish Eldridge bill & rect. for 12 bbls. pickled fish. Sept. 3, 1773." Cut from a larger sheet, the left margin unevenly torn with slight loss to the 'B' in 'Bot.' Previous folds, slight toning; very good.

See Gutstein, The Story of the Jews of Newport (N.Y., 1936) for an interesting account of Lopez and his business interests. Colonial Jewish merchant and shipper, Aaron Lopez was born in Portugal in 1731. He immigrated to Newport in 1752 where he was engaged primarily in the whale oil and candle business, although he also dealt in livestock, groceries, rum, ships, clothing, and slaves. During the 1760s and 1770s, he built an extensive transatlantic mercantile empire and on the eve of the American Revolution, Lopez was Newport's leading merchant and taxpayer. During the Revolution, he supported the colonials and withdrew from British-threatened Newport which greatly diminished his business.

Oblong folio pro-forma broadside (approx. $13\frac{1}{2}$ " x 17") accomplished in ink, outlining the sale of "those certain pieces or parcels of land described as blocks numbers seventy-two (72) and seventy-three (73) in the village of East Oswego ... and also block number thirty-six (36) ... reference being had to a map of said village ... in the office of the Secretary of State..." for the sum of one thousand, one hundred dollars. Signed by all three parties to the transaction, the Smiths' signatures also with wax seals still intact. The verso with several dockets by M. W. Matthews, the clerk's office recorder, and O. W. Steele, commissioner of deeds. Previous folds with neat, professional repair on verso, some minor loss at the folds, and the whole lightly toned; good or better.

Accompanied by a 2-page A.L.s. from Gerrit Smith to James Lyon, dated May 16, 1838, address panel and roundstamp on integral leaf, noting that he has just returned from New York "in a bad state of health, originating in a very severe cold. I find your letter enclosing your and Mrs. Lyon's deed, and also a writing signed by Mr. Fitzhugh. Be assured that it affords me great gratification to be an instrument of contributing relief of mind to those whom I respect as greatly as I do Mrs. Lyon and yourself ... Much as I shall lose in the property you convey to me, you lose still more in it - and difficult as it is for me to suffer losses in my present circumstances, it is still more difficult for you to suffer them. I accept the deed of Mrs. Lyon and yourself and I have caused an endorsement to be made on your bond..."

Whether the property Smith sold to Lyon in 1837 is being returned in 1838 is unclear, although this deed and letter were together in a folder when uncovered in the M&S inventory.

7. [Song Sheet / Street Literature.] [Dibdin, Charles.]. Grog. [London]: printed and sold by J. Pitts, 14 Great St. Andrew Street, 7 Dials, n.d., [1802-19]. $325

Narrow broadside (approx. 9³/₄" x 3¹/₂"); text in single column beneath a woodcut of an hourglass and the title; lightly toned; very good. First line: A plague on those musty old lovers. Pitts was at the St. Andrews St. address from 1802-19.

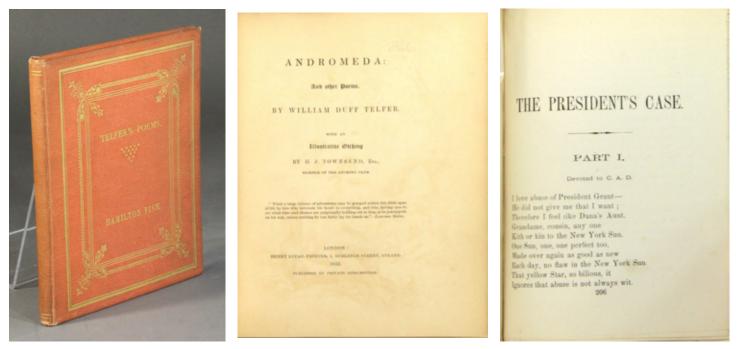

A member of the circle which included Garrick, Sheridan, and Harris, Dibdin boasted truly, "My songs have been the solace of sailors in long voyages, in storms, in battle; and they have been quoted in mutinies to the restoration or order and discipline." It is said that his sea songs, of which he is the indisputable master, were responsible for bringing more men into the Navy in war time than could all the press-gangs OCLC locates the National Library of Scotland only.

UNRECORDED POLITICAL VERSE SATIRE FROM THE POST-CIVIL WAR YEARS 8. Telfer, William Duff. Andromeda: and other poems. London: Henry Lucas ... published by private subscription, 1852. $750

First edition, 8vo, pp. 63, [1]; lovely engraved frontispiece by H. J. Townsend, Esq.; slightly later gilt-stamped orange pebbled-grain cloth, elaborate gilt panels with Hamilton Fish's name in gilt on the upper cover (likely an American binding); leaf F4 misbound but present; near fine. A subscribers' list of 52 names, including William Holman Hunt and John Everett Millais, took a total of only 76 copies, so the edition size is likely small.

Bound in at the back is a 30-page insert, the poem "The President's Case," most likely by Andrew Dickson White, beginning with a dedication leaf followed by 14 leaves paginating 204-230, [1]. In the prefatory note on p. 204 the author mentions having previously written "George Barnum McClellan," likely "Mai-Jour (translated May-Day) General George Barnum McClellan, militant-homeopath to the army of the Confederates..." which exists in a single copy at Cornell, according to OCLC. The poem ends with a sentiment within a mourning border reading: "The New York Tribune. / Under this stone / lies buried / The Slave Democracy. / R. I. P. / Finis / Horace Greeley, preacher and sexton." While the pagination suggests this may have been removed from a larger volume, the presence of a preliminary dedication and author's notes, and the similarly unconventional pagination in "Mai-Jour," suggests that this may be all that was printed. We have found no instances of the poem in any other collection or imprint.

White was a US Diplomat, author, and the co-founder of Cornell University. He was a staunch supporter of Grant, and dedicates the poems to him, "the most resolute and triumphant of our soldiers, and the most successful of our diplomats." The poem celebrates Grant and attacks his critics, particularly the New York Tribune and its editors. A couple of pencil corrections, very good. Hamilton Fish, whose copy this was, was also a strong supporter of Grant, and ended up serving as his Secretary of State through both administrations.
